A license for a factory shall be granted on payment of the specified fee in the Rules made under the said Act Previous permission in writing for carrying on any manufacturing process in any place etc has to be taken from the C I F The plans of the buildings to be used as factories should also be approved by the C I F Thereupon all the provisions of the Act will apply to the said factories.

12) For this way there seem to be not much difference between the principles laid down by the various provisions of the Factories Act and the proposed bye-laws of the city of Bangalore

16) Any bye-Law that purports to affect the provisions of a Central legislation is null and void The draft bye-laws of the Municipal Corporation do not militate against the provisions of the Factories Act in as much as they do not exempt a licensee from obtaining a license under the Factories Act As such I have no objection for their adoption

17) However, it is a matter for consideration of Government whether it will not be a heavy burden on the industry to be compelled to obtain licenses from more than one authority

22) The opinion of the Commissioner of Labour at para 16 and 17 is for perusal The Censor of Labour has no objection to the introduction of the proposed bye-laws as this does not exempt a person obtaining a municipal license from obtaining a license under the Factories Act also with these bye-laws coming into force it ~~[illegible]~~ becomes necessary to obtain two licenses (1) from the Corporation and (2) from the Factory inspectorate under the Factories Act to run a factory This will really be much of a burden on the industry as pointed out by the Labour Commissioner at para 17 above It may therefore be desirable that factories which employ more workers or less and fall outside the purview of the Factories Act are licensed by the Corporation and factories where more than nine workers are ~~[illegible]~~ normally employed are licensed under the Factories Act This will eliminate dual control and lessen the burden on the industry
